

Adrian Barr is the Managing Attorney of Prairie State Legal Services' Bloomington Office. Adrian began his career at Prairie State Legal Services in 2001 at the St. Charles Office as a staff attorney where he handled landlord-tenant, public benefits and disability cases. After 5 years in that role, Adrian joined Kingery Duree Wakeman & O'Donnell, a law firm in Peoria, for 3 years. During his time in private practice he handled several pro bono cases for Prairie State Legal Services' clients. He returned to Prairie State Legal Services' Bloomington Office as Managing Attorney in 2011. In his role as Managing Attorney, Adrian supervises the delivery of civil legal services and pro bono services to low-income people and seniors in McLean, Livingston, and Woodford counties. Adrian was awarded the Chicago Bar Foundation Sun-Times Public Interest Law Fellowship in 2016, the Children's Home + Aid Blue Bow Award for Prevention of Child Abuse in 2017, and the Illinois Wesleyan University Civic Engagement Award in 2018. Adrian serves on the board of directors of United Way of McLean County, Illinois Prairie Community Foundation, and The Immigration Project, a nonprofit organization in Bloomington providing immigrants with affordable immigration legal services. He serves on the Illinois Supreme Court Commission on Access to Justice Name Change Standardized Forms Subcommittee, and has chaired it since 2015. Adrian received his undergraduate degree and his law degree from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.
