

Don R. Everhart, Jr. Bio

Don Everhart has been a resident of McLean County for over 48 years – he and his spouse, Patsy, are parents of two adult children and two granddaughters. For the first 16 years of his life, he was a military kid, having lived coast-to-coast and overseas while his father served in the U.S. Army. His father, a veteran of WWII and the Korean War, is still living.

Don is an experienced Circuit Court Clerk, having served since December 1, 2008. He has been appointed to two Illinois Supreme Court Commission Access to Justice subcommittees for the development, review, and approval of standardized forms for use in the Illinois courts. He has had an active role in the Illinois Association of Court Clerks (IACC), serving as Chair of the Technology Committee and a member of the IACC Legislative Committee. He designed and maintains IACC's website. He is the only Illinois Circuit Court Clerk that participates in the weekly meetings held between the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts and Tyler Technology, the company that developed and oversees the electronic filing manager.

Immediately prior to becoming Circuit Clerk, he served as McLean County Chief Deputy Recorder. During his time in the Recorder's office, he restored the office to financial integrity and updated its technology.

He is a former business owner, operating a business that involved the design and development of computer applications. And he is a licensed private pilot.
