

Kevin Sanborn

Kevin Sanborn is currently a partner at Johnson Law Group, LLC with offices in Bloomington, Peoria, Springfield, and Decatur and has been an attorney since 2005 after graduating from Southern Illinois University School of Law.

He joined the Livingston County State's Attorney Office in September of 2005 and then the McLean County State's Attorney Office in February of 2008. During his time as a prosecutor Kevin concentrated on criminal prosecutions of traffic, DUI, misdemeanor and felony cases, including class X and Super X drug cases, armed robberies, sex assault cases, homicides, shootings, and he also litigated civil forfeiture, juvenile neglect/abuse cases, juvenile delinquency cases, truancy cases, post conviction, and orders of protection. Kevin left prosecution work in 2015 and began his career in private practice with Johnson Law Group becoming a partner shortly thereafter. During his private practice Kevin has successfully defended all types of cases, including multiple murder cases and sexual assault cases, and obtained not guilty verdicts for clients at trial as well as handling traffic, DUI, and misdemeanors cases.

Kevin has also handled numerous civil matters in private practice including collection actions, corporate actions, real estate property disputes, orders of protection, asset forfeiture, child support, and post conviction work. Kevin has argued before the Fourth District Appellate Court and is licensed to practice in the United States Federal Courts and the United States Supreme Court. Kevin's work has been featured in multiple television broadcasts and in print media.
