

Ron Yanor BIO:

Ron Yanor is a full time tactical trainer for military, law enforcement and select civilian clients. He spent 19 years on a multi-jurisdictional tactical unit comprised of 22 operators and 4 paramedics; with 9 years as the training and intel officer.

As Training Director of Adamax Tactical Academy, he has developed curriculum of Illinois state certified training courses for police officers. He has worked in various training capacities in the U.S. and South America. He has been a security consultant to schools and colleges as well as authoring over 50 published articles on training and tactics.

Adamax was established in 1999 and conducts tactical courses on a variety of subject matter topics. The firm networks with tier one training providers on a global basis in addition to their proprietary classes.

Ron is also on the staff of Tactical Energetic Entry Systems and provided services for the International Breacher's Symposium and Combat Arts Seminar.